The Michigan Chamber is backing incumbent Justices David F. Viviano and Brian K. Zahra and Kent County Circuit Court Judge James Robert Redford for the Michigan Supreme Court.

"A stable, predictable legal climate is a key factor in Michigan's economic competitiveness," said Michigan Chamber President & CEO Rich Studley. "Viviano, Zahra and Redford are experienced and capable judges who believe in separation of powers and will not legislate from the bench."

"At the Michigan Chamber, we know from experience that job providers can win public policy battles in the legislature only to lose the war in court," noted Jim Holcomb, Senior Vice President, Business Advocacy & General Counsel for the Michigan Chamber. "The three candidates we've endorsed are independent, intelligent and fair-minded jurists with strong track records of accomplishment."

"Viviano, Zahra and Redford are solid choices for the Michigan Supreme Court and we are pleased to highly recommend them to Michigan voters," Studley concluded.

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce is a statewide business organization representing approximately 6,600 employers, trade associations and local chambers of commerce. The Michigan Chamber represents businesses of every size and type in all 83 counties of the state. Michigan Chamber member businesses provide jobs to 1.5 million residents. One of every 2.6 employees in Michigan works for a Chamber member firm. The Michigan Chamber was established in 1959 to be an advocate for Michigan's job providers in the legislative, political and legal process. It is one of only six state chambers accredited by the U.S. Chamber and one of only four state chambers accredited with distinction.
